Most roses do not know that weeds are Bloodsuckers that torment roses into believing they are not roses but unlovable weeds. After a while, the roses cannot get away from the weeds because the roses and weeds have grown together as one.

You can always tell weeds because they always dominate roses by running them down making them believe they are unlovable.

Barry Wyatt Jr.